Metal wood grain furniture

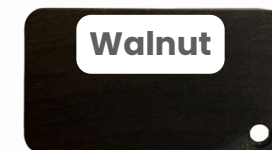

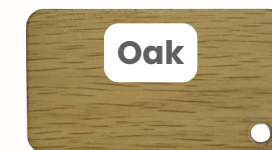

Ideal for Aged Care, Community Centres, Disability Housing

In the field of furniture design, the emergence of metal wood grain technology has undoubtedly revolutionized modern commercial spaces. As one of the advanced thermal transfer printing processes, metal wood grain transfers delicate wood grain patterns to the metal surface through heat and pressure, thus giving the metal material the visual effect and tactile sensation of natural wood.

This ingenious fusion of metal and wood grain design concept breaks the boundaries of traditional materials, possessing both the natural beauty of wood and the robustness and durability of metal, which perfectly fits the dual needs of durability and aesthetics in modern commercial spaces.

DESIGNED FOR SAFETY, COMFORT AND LONGEVITY

Practicality Meets Low Maintenance

One of the standout features of this range is its stain resistance. Furniture can be cleaned quickly and easily, and this aluminium collection delivers. The non-porous surface resists water, oils, and dirt, making it perfect for environments that demand high hygiene standards. Paired with commercial-grade stain-resistant fabrics, the chairs are not only easy to wipe down but maintain their appearance even after years of use.

Comfort Tailored to Seniors

Every element of the chair design has been considered with the comfort of older adults in mind. From ergonomic backrests to generous seat widths and carefully calibrated seat heights, the chairs provide support for longer, more enjoyable mealtimes. The lightweight frame also allows for easier repositioning, which helps reduce strain on both residents and care staff.

Whether used in dining rooms, activity areas, or lounge spaces, this versatile range is designed to support comfort, connection, and community.
